$650,000,000 SUBSCRIBED

ONE SEVENTH OF THE GOAL IS REACHED

BIG INCREASE IN SUBSCRIPTIONS REPORTED BY CLEVELAND.

MICHIGAN AND IOWA OVER TOP

Workers All Over Country Are Confident of Raising $4,500,000,000.

Washington, April 25.—A little more than $650,000,000 had been subscribed to the Victory Liberty loan and officially tabulated today by the treasury.

This is about one seventh of the $4,500,000,000 sought. Instructions will go out to workers to make efforts next week not only to get pledges but to induce subscribers to make initial payments. In this way it is hoped to have by the end of next week a truer index of the progress of the campaign.

A big increase in the subscription total was reported today by the Cleveland district. Columbus and Toledo expected to subscribe their quotas before the close of business tonight.

The over subscription still are reported from Michigan and Iowa, the two states which have reached their goals.

The battle tank which plowed 12 miles up hillsides at the battle of Cambrai is scheduled to climb Mount Rushmore to the grave of the late "Buffalo Bill" Cody. The citizens of Sioux City, Iowa, put their community over the subscription mark by voluntarily giving to the drive an extraordinary sum of money and entering their subscriptions.

Vienna Likes Conflict; Says Orlando Bluffing

Vienna, Thursday, April 24.—The withdrawal of the Italian delegation from the peace conference was received here with elation, the people generally being glad to see the allies in conflict with each other. The Neue Presse says:

"Premier Orlando is bluffing, probably to square his position in Italy to the interventionists. It is his intention to withdraw as he is told by America."

The paper adds: "In President Wilson's position is based on the idea of right and justice and it is hoped he will act in the same way toward Bohemia and Tyrol where the people will be driven to desperation if subjected to Czech or Italian control."

HERO'S WIFE LOAN PLUGGER

Mrs. Samuel Woodhill subscribing to Victory Loan. Secretary Glass is filling out pledge.

Samuel Woodhill, Cincinnati man, has been called a super-hero because of his feats in the war. During the battle of Cunei he captured four German machine gun nests, killed fourteen of the enemy and took three prisoners. But Mrs. Woodhill isn't content to let him do all the family's share in the war. She recently subscribed to the Victory Loan, Secretary of the Treasury Glass filled out the subscription blank.

HUSBAND LIVES; LOVE, WIFE'S DEFENSE

Chicago, April 25.—The condition of Elmer E. Simpson, shot three times in Judge Brothers' courtroom here yesterday by his wife, was slightly improved today and it was said he had a chance for recovery.

Mrs. Elmer E. Simpson, the wife, who is a niece of John M. Roach, long prominent in Chicago street car affairs, spent the night in jail.

"That man has lived since July 12, 1916, by my permission," said Mrs. Simpson. "On that date I found him in a hotel with another woman. Her husband was with me and we had them arrested. Since then he has been in jail. My life has been a hell. I always loved Elmer and worked for him, and he repaid me with falsehoods. The new unwritten law which does not permit a married man to love another woman will be my defense. It will save me."

Sees Italian Situation "Clearing Rapidly"

War Vets Back of Loan

The American War Veterans at an enthusiastic meeting before the parade Thursday night gave unanimous endorsement to the Victory loan and appealed to citizens to subscribe. They are going to help as shown by their resolution which was adopted as follows:

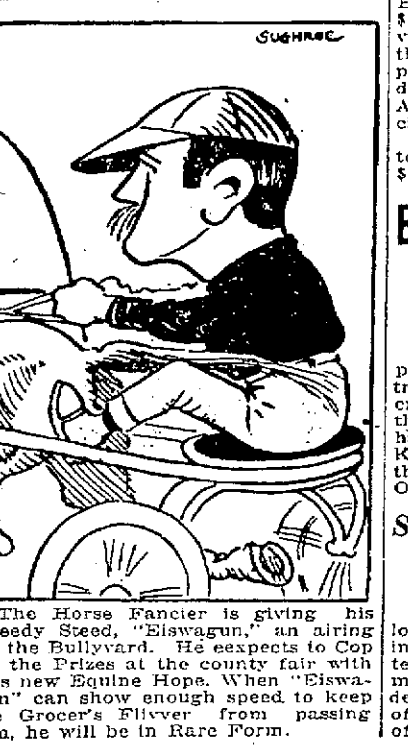

BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED by the American War Veterans:

"That we publicly make known to the people of Rock County, that we, as soldiers and sailors in the field or in the camp, have appreciated in a very earnest way each Liberty Loan the patriots at home have so gloriously subscribed to."

"That we have considered these subscriptions a fit return for what we have received from our country, and in the small measure they have served as a memorial to those of our comrades who have made the supreme sacrifice."

"That we express to the public in behalf of the many men still in France and Germany the fact that these men (continued on page five)

Folks We All Know

THEY LOOK THE PART

The practice of selecting the actor because he can look the part has grown even more popular despite the condemnation of critics and actors who regard their profession as a real art. The motion picture field especially has adopted the popular method of "typecasting" novices for stellar roles. Alice Brady is a veteran now, but it was only six years ago that she came out of her convent school only to be made a star by her father, William Brady. Marion Coakley, now a heroine in "Cappy Ricks," had few parts of any importance before that engagement. With practically no dramatic experience she became the youngest of the leading ladies. Perhaps the most outstanding case of choosing novices for stellar roles is that of the motion picture star, June Caprice. Mr. Fox saw her playing on the street one day and he decided that she was just the type to play sweet and girlish parts in his productions. He hired her and made her a star in the first production.

'BUILD A HOUSE' DRIVE IS BRINGING RESULTS

Although the Victory loan drive is overshadowing the "Build a House" campaign, the results of the latter during the past two weeks are most encouraging to F. H. Jackman, chairman, and his corps of assistants. Exclusive of the houses being built in the Scofield addition by the Matteson-Lindstrom Co., Chicago, and the homes to be constructed by the Janesville Housing corporation, 31 houses are listed at the Chamber of Commerce.

Prospective home builders can obtain blank cards from the Chamber of Commerce, F. H. Jackman, or any of the members of the committee. These cards when filled out are to be returned to Mr. Jackman.

Other reports made to him are town of Union, $4,150; town of Center, $100.

WILSON MEETS PEACE CHIEFS

Arrival of Premier Orlando in Rome Is Announced From Capitol.

BULLETINS.

Paris, April 26.—The peace conference is watching with intense interest the result of today's developments in Rome, where Premier Orlando arrived this morning, and where the events of the day are expected to disclose whether the hopes of reconciliation can be realized.

Reports received here from the American embassy in Rome are somewhat ominous as to the state of public feeling there, as crowds have been parading the streets crying "down with the Americans" and "down with the English" and "viva Sonnino" the foreign minister who ousted Premier Orlando in passing the extreme demands made by Italy under the secret treaty of London.

These reports are particularly disturbing as the American and British delegations to the peace conference are said to have had reason to believe that Premier Orlando might adopt a course before the Italian parliament which would lead to an unfavorable adjustment of the premier. Lloyd George was particularly hopeful that this result would be brought about.

Paris, April 26.—Foreign Minister Sonnino and former Premier Salandra of the Italian delegation left Paris for Rome at 2 o'clock this afternoon. A large crowd of sympathizers gave them an ovation at the railway station.

Paris, April 25.—Orders have been sent to Rear Admiral Philip Andrew, commander of the American naval forces in the Adriatic, directing him to take exceptional precautions to avoid possible disorders in view of the tension in Italy.

CONFERENCE IN SHAKEN

Paris, April 26.—The peace conference has been severely shaken by the Italian crisis and the extent to which its work will be affected is receiving the anxious attention of the delegates.

The American storm has broken and the air has cleared in that quarter, but in other quarters a less optimistic view is taken, the feeling being that an element of confusion has been introduced which will result in more or less delay at the moment the German delegates are arriving.

PUBLIC UTILITY AND MOVIE BILLS WATCHED; MANY HEARINGS SET

(By FRED T. HOLMES.)

Madison, April 25.—Senator Skaggs' bill for the purchase of public utilities by districts will feature one of the principal hearings in the legislature this week. The bill comes up Tuesday afternoon. It provides that entire districts benefited by a utility may join in the purchase of that utility.

Judged from the petitions received one of the largest hearings of the year will be staged Thursday over the Cakes bill for a board of moving picture censorship. Moving picture houses all over the state are despoiling the committee with petitions against the measure, the claim being made that the censorship will result in an increased cost of admission.

The Severson-Rothe bills for an elective railroad and tax commission are on for hearing before the corporations committee Wednesday afternoon. Thursday afternoon the senate committee on education and public welfare will hear arguments on Senator Bouley's bill for the erection of monuments in France to the 32nd and 42nd divisions. The Burhop bill to permit municipalities to engage in the selling of dairy products against the measure, the claim being made that the censorship will result in an increased cost of admission.

The joint finance committee Tuesday will hear arguments on the Madison bill designed to rehabilitate the state life fund. This measure provides for the appointment of men in the different counties to represent the state life fund on a commission basis.

The Axel Johnson bill to exempt farmers from the anti-trust and non-opolies of the state will be considered by the senate committee on judiciary Wednesday. This bill has already passed the house.

Several important reconstruction bills are on for hearing Thursday. One will direct collective bargaining in certain cases; another would put a labor representative on the board of directors of corporations; still another is designed to increase the attendance at continuation schools; and another for opening agricultural lands for settlement and the establishment of vacation camps for children.

The Marcus E. Johnson bill with the score of amendments that have been offered will be considered again by the labor committee of the house Wednesday afternoon. The Klein bill to limit the number of employees of women is on for the same day.

On the same afternoon the house taxation committee will hear arguments on the Cakes bill for a board of moving picture censorship. It would permit one-half of the payment to be made in January and the balance in July.

TRACTORS STAY ON JOB FOR DELAVAN SHOW

Delavan, April 25.—The 26 farm tractors which came here Wednesday for the Walworth tractor demonstration Thursday are staying on the job. The plans for the demonstration, which will be held next Thursday, if weather permits, are going on with enthusiasm, not dampened by the rain of the past week.

Rock county farmers are showing an unusual interest in the demonstration and a large delegation of them is expected here next week. One hundred acres on the Elden farm are being held in reserve for the testing grounds for the tractors. The plowing will begin at 8 o'clock.

The following tractors have entered using the popular tractor tools: Townsend, Turner, Cleveland, Indiana, Miller, Wallis, two models, McFarland, Hart-Parr, Lauson, Fordson, Eagle, Heider, Perrot, Waterloo Boy, I. H. C. Titan, Steel Muls, Case, three models; La Crosse, Tractor-Happy Farmer, All-Chalmers, two models; Advance, Rumples, Avery.

CHILDREN'S RECITAL IS CREDIT TO TEACHER

The little pupils of Miss Lois Thorne gave a creditable recital at library hall last evening before a large gathering of parents and friends. Some of them were little tots of six years or so whose tiny hands could hardly reach the keys, and some were of the mature age of 12, but all of them played with unconscious absorption, and with much appreciation of the meaning of their theme.

Simple little melodies which ranged from "The Swing" and the "Music Box" to sleepy songs and lullabies were theirs. "The Great Big Bear" was interpreted by Elsie Anderson on the piano, and was sung by Dorothy Erikson. A duet, "The Hussites," was prettily played by Adalheid Pichas and Louise Decker. Miss Alma Denmore in two descriptive pieces, "The Mill" and "The Sailor." The marked ability of Miss Esther Barker delighted the children with two readings especially suited to their comprehension. They were "Queen Esther's Petition" and "Our Baby."

FATHER IS JAILED; LITTLE GIRL TAKES CHARGE OF THE FARM

William Fiddler's twelve years old daughter last night milked the eight cows, fed the chickens and fed the horses, bedded the down and finished the work generally on the farm north of the county house. The father was in jail. The police arrested him after he continued to drive aimlessly about the city with a load of hay and a eight year old daughter atop. The youngster was sent home in a taxi-cab.

Fiddler made a poor plea for leniency to Judge H. L. Maxfield this morning, when he faced intoxication charges. He was fined five dollars and costs or seven days. He had the fine. The judge took it in an envelope and ordered him to give it to the twelve years old daughter.

Little Miss Grown-up Fractures Her Elbow; Playing She's a Lady

Playing grown-up lady, tight skirt and all, proved serious for little Stella Babcock, the 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. C. O. Babcock, 608 Hickory street. Stella, yesterday afternoon, dressed all up in a shirt waist and a narrow skirt. Everything moved according to fashion while the little lady stayed on the ground. She started jumping, however, and when she attempted to leap from the steps to the ground her French heels caught in the tight skirt and she fell heavily, fracturing her left elbow.

AMBULANCE DRIVER TELLS WOMEN OF FRONT LINE RUNS

Vivid word pictures of life along the battlefields and front line trenches during the recent war as seen by an ambulance driver, were given by James Palmer yesterday afternoon before a group of women belonging to the Presbyterian Women's society.

After being rejected by both the American and Canadian army, and after two years of wandering, he was finally accepted by the French, and enlisted in Paris in August, 1917.

For two years he saw service up and down the front, the ambulance corps being attached to a French division. Driving by night over exposed roads and through shell holes was all a part of the regular work, and his car, after 14 months' service, when discarded because unfit for further use, was perforated with 34 holes made by bullets.

"An ordinary load of the car," he said, "was three stretcher cases and two sitting cases besides the driver, but on one occasion on the Somme, I carried 12. Just all the old car would stagger under," was the way he explained.

Wlas Croix de Guerre.

He disclaimed all credit for the Croix de Guerre which was bestowed on him for valor under fire by the French government.

"It was nothing at all," he explained. "I went in after some wounded and got caught between the lines; just had to get them out. And then he hurried on to tell what some of the other fellows had done at Ville Cottetere. They had been told to go after some wounded men in a chateau, but the road was between the lines and under shell fire all the way. The chateau also was being shelled, and the only way they could get out was by creeping around behind the chateau, and loading the wounded through the windows. Then on the way out the road was again shelled but they got out with their wounded and all got the coveted cross."

On the Marne, along the Somme, at Chemin des Dames, in the Ville Cottetere woods, the Argonne forest and at San Mihiel, his experiences took him with an occasional rest spell at Aix le Bains, a Furlough in Scotland to visit a wounded brother.

Tells of Armistice.

His account of the armistice was most interesting, as the French soldiers with which he was attached, seemed to be unable to believe that peace was in sight, and were almost wept by the event. Later his division followed on the Germans in their retreat through Belgium, and as the ambulance corps can travel faster than the division, he and his fellows actually reached the frontier of Belgium under a full moon.

The welcome which they received from these oppressed people was demonstrative in the extreme, he said, and when the French officer in command told them that one of his

SHOE CONSERVATION

W. H. Kelley, a lumber salesman, of Omaha, found Neolin Soles so tough and durable that one pair of soles served on a second pair of uppers after the first pair of uppers had worn out in ten months of hard walking.

And he says, "These same soles will stand another ten months of constant daily wear."

This is unusual service even for Neolin Soles but Mr. Kelley's experience should indicate to you a method of cutting down those rising shoe bills you have to meet. Simply make sure the new shoes you buy are Neolin-soled and have worn shoes repaired with these soles which are scientifically made to be comfortable, waterproof and exceedingly long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

One of the most important features of the Human Machine is the wonderful Nerve System. The nerves regulate and control every process that goes on within the body. Sever the nerves leading to the eye. Your sight will be gone forever. The nerves control and carry life to the heart, liver, stomach and all other organs and parts of the body. Interference with any nerve such as pinching caused by the misplacement of some vertebra of the spine will cause abnormal action and weakness in the organ in which the nerve ends. LA PRAIRIE SOCIETY
RECEIVES LETTER FROM LAD OVERSEAS

The J. B. M. A. society, La Prairie, has received the following letter from the 9-year-old French boy whom they as a society have adopted. The lad's letter was accompanied by one from an American soldier, Pvt. H. Hoffman, Nantes, France, who had made the acquaintance of the boy.

The letter from the boy, Joseph Petreanu, is as follows:

"Dear Miss: It is with a great deal of pleasure that I am appraised that an American lady interests herself in me."

"I am touched in my childish heart that one on the other side of the ocean in the grand and generous America troubles herself, an American who desires to come to the aid of a little boy who has no father."

"I thank you very much, dear lady, for your attention to me, and be assured that I will pray God that He will give you in happiness the benefit that you have designed to accord to me."

"Receive my best thanks and best wishes. I am nine years old and live at Nantes, France."

The following letter is from Pvt. Hoffman:

"To the Secretary of the J. B. M. A. Society, La Prairie: You will pardon my boldness in addressing you. A few days ago I went with a French lad to get an overcoat he was having made at a tailor's alter. I remembered the way and as I wanted a blouse altered, I took it to this same woman."

"Last night I went after it. I talk only a little French, and during the conversation she showed me your card in connection with the war relief work."

"Do not be surprised that she showed me your card, as it was done in a spirit of gratitude, I am sure."

"Joseph Petreanu is a nice little boy. He has a sister who lives with an aunt not far from here. He has a very nice mother and she is a real housekeeper; everything is so bright and clean there. I was a little ashamed when I noticed the dirt from my shoes on the nicely scrubbed floor."

"What struck me most on entering this home was the feeling of friendship and cheerfulness. Surely the women of France have borne their burden of sorrow with much courage."

"I assure you that it is a worthy cause and what you are doing is appreciated."

"America has shown the world a great lesson in helpfulness."

"I am much interested in your little friend and I will see him again in a few days."

"From a soldier of the ranks, Pvt. H. Hoffman, Nantes, France, Feb. 26, 1919."

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The Victory Loan campaign, which is now well under way, is a surprise to many of us who said: "It can't be done", and yet many of the smaller towns and cities are already over the top, while reports of success from all parts of the country are coming in every day. The spirit of patriotism, which we thought was dormant, has again been aroused, and the debt of honor, which we are preparing to meet, is regarded as a sacred obligation.

The policy of the government regarding publicity has been so conservative that it looked for a time as though the campaign would be a failure, and the press of the country was practically a unit in demanding that government advertising should be paid for, but the press is loyal and while much of the matter sent out has been consigned to the waste basket, much of it has been published, while the business men and manufacturers of the country have responded loyally by donating space freely and advertising the loan.

The city and county organizations have had more to do with the success of the campaign than any other force, and it has been gratifying to note how cheerfully men and women have sacrificed time and money to win in a cause which was of no more interest to them than to the rest of us. There is a little group of enterprising people in every community who are expected to do this kind of work and pay their own expenses. It is well for the Victory Loan that these people exist. Rock county has its full quota and they are devoting time and talent to this great drive, which promises to be the last of its kind.

When our boys sailed away across the sea a few months ago to take an active part in the greatest war the world has ever known, their departure was so wisely managed that we knew nothing about the date of embarkation, or how or when they landed, but when in due time it was announced that two million of them were on French soil, ready for business, we forget the expense and everything else except that the Hun army was soon to meet its Waterloo, and it did. The American army was the missing link without which the war would have been lost.

The closing pages of the most dramatic history ever written are blood-stained and filled with deeds of valor and heroism of our boys at the front and the little markers which dot the battlefields of France tell the story of supreme sacrifice shared by many thousands of them, while the maimed and scarred veterans will long be with us as reminders of the great conflict. But the great mass of our boys were spared and are now coming home at the rate of from five to fifteen thousand a day and more than half of them are still on the other side. If you and I had a boy over there waiting for a remittance to bring him home, we would see to it that he had the money without delay. Buy a Victory Bond and help somebody's boy to come home, for that is what a part of the money now being raised is to be used for.

The expenses of war do not end with the cessation of hostilities. Our army of occupation must be maintained in France for an indefinite period and the starving people in some parts of the old world must be fed. We are the only great nation with an abundance of food and money prepared to aid, and as we entered the war to make the world safe for democracy, we are in honor bound to stand by the ship until safety is assured.

The Victory Loan grows on us as the campaign advances, for two or three reasons. Aside from patriotism and the human principles involved, the people are aiming to understand that short time notes bearing four and three-quarters percent, with semi-annual interest coupons attached, are a mighty good investment. That is what the Victory Loan Bond is. Safer and better than a farm mortgage, because it can be converted into cash at any time if necessary, and the interest can be collected at any bank in the country.

Another argument for the Loan, which was very effective among thinking people, is well brought out by McCutcheon in a late cartoon. The first picture is of a man at a taxpayer's window with a scowl on his face paying his war taxes. Opposite is the picture of a jolly faced man cheerfully investing in Victory Bonds. The bond money and the tax money fill the coffers of the United States Treasury and unless the bonds are sold freely, the government takes our money by taxes, so it amounts to Hopkin's choice. Better to buy the bonds as an investment because paying taxes is simply paying a debt.

The prospects for an early peace settlement have gone a glimmering during the past week and the peace conference at Paris is sadly demoralized. We still have Germany to settle with and have made an enemy of Italy. The big four is now the big three, for Premier Orlando has packed his grip and gone home, charging President Wilson with the responsibility of breaking up the friendly relations. His grievance is that the president issued a statement to the people before submitting it to him, thus influencing public sentiment in a dispute and violating etiquette, which is an unpardonable sin. The situation, so far as Italy is concerned, is exceedingly grave.

The viewpoint from three thousand miles away, with Vice President Tumulty sitting on the lid, is that America has been made the goat and our representatives, President Wilson and Colonel House, are just beginning to find it out. The Monroe doctrine fiasco was something of an eye opener, but the London secret agreement with Italy, when she entered the war as an ally, topped the climax. How many more agreements of this kind may be unearthed, time alone can tell. The fact remains, however, that America is the only great power which is contending for humanitarianism. The only nation which is talking about high deals in the final settlement.

Britain is cold blooded and selfish, demanding indemnity to the last farthing. France is crushed and the destruction of property has been so appalling that she has no time for sentiment. Italy cares more for a seaport than for peace and is ready to fight at the drop of the hat, if necessary. President Wilson stands out alone as the champion of the oppressed and down trodden, and while he has been accorded a courteous hearing it is evident that no great impressions have been made. The League of Nations scheme should be abandoned until a settlement has been made with Germany.

In the meantime there are some questions at home which need attention. The nation is practically without a government. The cabinet is sight-seeing in the old world and congress can do nothing until legally organized. The vice president seems to have been lost in the shuffle. Business is suffering because of uncertainty with no man at the helm. Democracy is still in the saddle with the south holding the whip hand.

The next national election should revolutionize the politics of the country, for the days of reconstruction have but just commenced. The opportunity for the republican party is at hand and if wisely handled it may be restored to the control which it so foolishly lost a few years ago. The coming decade will be a business era and the best brain of the country will be in demand. Shall we be ready for the fray?

Yes Mother and the Girls Are All At Home

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. SMOULTON

After looking over about four thousand pictures of millionaire society brides in the past two of three months, we have decided we wouldn't trade our wife for any we have seen, not even with $25 to boot. A good-looking man is more to be desired than great riches. When they are 45 and look like 24—oh, boy!

THE CLOUD.
The little cloud that floats along,
In busy beauty o'er the blue,
In robe of light, so pure and white,
With moonbeams shining through.
From nothingness unseeking comes
To nothingness it goes;
Moves or is still but at the will
Of the breeze that round it blows.

Unasking dons or lays aside
Its fleecy robe or shadowy light,
All silent there it fades in air
And leaves its beauty to the night.

THE CURDLING OF LA RUE.
Mrs. La Rue Reading went to Monticello Springs Sunday to visit several days with friends near there. La Rue stayed at home to feed the chickens and milk the cow. He says he can milk all right, but doesn't know what to do with it. At the time of going to press every vessel in the house is full of milk and he has stopped up the holes in the cook stove and was dilling it with the surplus. From the Lowry City (Mo.) Independent.

Or, if "women are not allowed to paint their faces in New Jersey," why can't they paint them in New York and wear them over to Jersey that way? It's a tremendous question.

According to the "Blondie County Appeal," it was announced at a recent whist party in Paris that the prize was to be a surprise. Now was this a mistake, for when Miss Emma Buckner won it she was escorted to the front porch, where she discovered the trophy to be an Angora goat.

Doesn't it make you mad, after you have been shuffled around a good deal in a big crowd, to find that the lady who is clinging desperately to you, isn't your own wife at all?—Kansas City Star.

No, we can't say that it does.

JAPANESE TOT IS RED CROSS WORKER

This shy little maid from the land of cherry blossoms is very proud of the Red Cross cap she is wearing, which was awarded for the work she has done. The students at the Hiroshima Girls' school are doing splendid work for the Red Cross and the kindergarten imitate them and do minor things like counting piles or separating them. This youngster did not know whether to laugh or cry when the camera man pointed at her, but she finally decided she would like a picture of her new cap.

UNUSUAL INTEREST IN H. S. STAMP SALE

Unusual interest is being shown in the sale of the war stamps at the high school. All four classes have been organized and keen competition is growing daily. Large barometers, one for each class, have been placed in the room and the sale of the respective classes will be placed on it.
The actual sale of the stamps will not begin until next Friday. At that time each class will bring from their faculty advisers and the results placed on the barometers.
It is the plan of the classes in buying the stamps to not only help the government, but to increase the saving habit.

LAWYER DEFENDS ARMY COURT MARTIAL

Washington, April 25.—The army court martial system found a strong defender today before the committee of the American Bar association, in Col. James S. Easley Smith, a Washington lawyer in civil life and now a member of the clemency board in the judge advocate general's office.
The officer, who declared he had "nothing to fear or to hope for from the army," as he was hoping to be returned soon to his private practice, said personal examination of the records of cases widely exploited in congress and elsewhere as showing the injustice of military courts had convinced him that these had been "most grossly misrepresented."

The committee should reach no conclusion without personal examination of the records in a large number of these cases, he insisted.

AMERICAN FLEET HELD IN READINESS IN ITALIAN SNARL

meeting between President Wilson and Premier Orlando before the latter's departure, as highly dramatic in character. One version is that the Italian prime minister in addressing the American president said:

"You have contested the authority of the Italian government before its people and it is my duty to go before the representatives of the Italian people and say to them: 'Decide between Mr. Wilson and me.'"

To this President Wilson is reported to have replied:

"That is certainly your right."
In American quarters it is said that the foregoing version of the incident is probably a reflex of Premier Orlando's public statement in which he referred to the president appealing directly to the people.

It is said that the chances of reaching an accord at the final meeting were good if Premier Orlando had remained half an hour longer.

But the approach of the time for the departure of his train and his feeling that he should consult the Italian people finally caused him to withdraw while the plan that might have brought about an agreement, was still under discussion. The basis of this presumptive accord is said to have been the partial internationalization of Fiume, like Danzig, with the Jugo-Slavs occupying the Dalmatian mainland and the Italians the outlying islands.

The territorial issue now is felt to be less important than the personal issue which the Italian premier has raised by his plan for going before parliament and asking a vote of confidence. Should this be given, it is thought probable in some quarters that it would renew the Italian issue before the council.

There are evidences that President Wilson has avoided using anything which might be construed as economic pressure on Italy, although some quarters have suggested this as a new delegation with a new policy to the conference.

RUMANIANS CONTINUE TO MAKE ADVANCES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Geneva, Thursday, April 24.—The Rumanian bureau at Bern has issued a statement saying that after the visit of Gen. Franchet D'Esperey to Budapest recently, Rumanian troops were ordered to again take the offensive against Hungary which had been suspended during the stay of Gen. Christian Jan Smuts at Budapest. The order provoked great enthusiasm and that a number of Saxon officers and troops from Transylvania joined the Rumanian army which in a rapid march beyond the old line of entrenchment, occupied Grosswardein, capital of the province of Bihar. Hungarian Red Guards fled from the city and large quantities of booty were captured by the Rumanians.

It is officially announced at Budapest that the Rumanians continue to advance toward the Theiss river and that the Hungarians have been forced to evacuate Debrecen, 36 miles north-west of Budapest.

Thousands of people are leaving Budapest on foot and carrying their baggage as there are no trains or Budapest have met and protested against the soviet government and bolshevism.

(Copyright, 1917, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Of all the Writing Ginks that ever Pulled Bright Lines, the most incoherent, probably, was Big Bill Shakespeare. You can take Pretty Nearly Anything that William ever Tore Off on his Trusty old Single Keyboard, then Size Up a few words from a Sentence, and you'll have to admit that Bill SAID IT.

I was Crashing Through some of the Highbrow Stuff that our Old Pal dashed off, the Other Day, and in that Sketch called "As You Like It," which used to Play the Big Time before the Shuberts and K. & E. were Ever Heard Of, I ran across an expression of Bill's which said there were "Sermons in Stones."

So there Are. There's one Big Sermon in Every Stone. Here it is. "Don't Throw the Stone!" Do you, Make Me? I mean! DON'T KNOCK.

In my opinion, any Guy that tosses a pebble at another fellow's Reputation, ought to have the Woolworth Building dropped on Top of his Own Head.

It's an Awful Game, this Knocking. What you Start in a Whisper against the Other Bird, may wind up as a Big Holler through a Megaphone, that will put him Out of the Battle for Keeps. A CHANCE TO LIVE

BY ZOE BECKLEY

PROMISES.

Life was different to Annie after the baby carriage was stolen. Now that she always had to carry the baby, it seemed a long way to the baby carriage in the neighborhood where the neighborhood children went to sniff the heavenly odor of cooking chocolate.

Sometimes the girls who didn't have to lug babies would sneak off without her. Annie could then join one of the lesser social groups—say the Italian little girls or the Jewish little girls—who were always hawking penny bangles and playing unadventurous games on the doorstep. Or she could go over to the dock alone, where it was quiet, and think.

The tragedy of the baby carriage and the policeman's failure to find it made many things for Annie to think about.

There were the things, for instance, her optimistic father was always telling. "Huh! He told again and again how they were going to find it and see it and go traveling around and see the world and have lovely clothes!" And live in a flat with all light rooms?

If the policeman had failed, her father never would have failed her when he never failed anything. That Christmas, when Annie had asked him for a tin kitchen with little pans that hung from hooks, like the one in the window on Third avenue—hadn't her father promised she should have it, whatever it cost?

And, sure enough, on Christmas morning, there it was waiting by the side of her bed, although her daddy suddenly began wearing his old broken shoes again instead of his new ones.

Annie had not heard her mother say to her father the night before: "Oh, John, why will you do these things?" And her father answer, "She has little enough; I want her to keep on smiling." No, decided Annie definitely, there couldn't be anything wrong with her father's promises. Whatever he said always came true.

And then there was Aunt Maggie. Aunt Maggie often came Saturday afternoons and took Annie to look in the window on Fourteenth street. Sometimes they bought things. Annie was always terrified at the railing chaos of the Union Square crossing. She would look up and say, "Aunt Maggie, will you take care of me?" And Aunt Maggie would always answer, "I'll take care of you; don't be afraid."

Then Annie would put her hand in her aunt's, shut her eyes tight and trot along, shivering deliciously at the sound of cars and wagons and clatter of hoofs. But without a fear in the world, Aunt Maggie had promised. Still, since the policeman had not kept his promise, Aunt Maggie told her, too some day.

SIDE TALKS

—By—
RUTH CAMERON

One Foot In Front Of Another.

"Does it seem possible that we came way from there by just putting one foot in front of the other?" said the Authorman.

We had been taking a long walk, that is, I call it a long walk. Perhaps some one of my readers would not. We had come from the little inn where we were stopping some five miles to another hilltop whence we could see the inn nestled on the side of the hill and the long road stretching between.

It was rather a hazy day and perhaps it looked even farther away than it was. Anyhow, it did seem quite remarkable, when one stopped to think of it, that we could have covered in an hour and a half all that lay between us and our starting point by quietly "putting one foot in front of the other," as the Authorman described it.

The Miles Had Reeled Themselves Out Behind Us.

We hadn't especially hurried, we had just swung along, talking, laughing, falling into ruminative silences, then breaking into talk again and, slowly but surely, the miles had reeled themselves out behind us.

If we had thought, when we started out, of the number of steps we would have to take before we would reach our destination, I fancy they would have rather appalled us, of course, what I am going to say. To be sure, you have heard it before: to be sure, you have a very old and familiar word, but what truth isn't old and familiar when you come to that? Most of them in fact are too familiar, when you come to that? Most of them in fact are too familiar. We know them but we have forgotten to feel them. And the only way to be made to feel them is to have them brought back to us in a slightly different light, by some illuminating little experience.

An Hour At A Time.

A friend of mine is in the hospital. The day she expected to go home she was told she must stay another month. It was terrible disappointment. "But I've found that if I don't try to live that month all at once I can stand it," she said.

"Just a day at a time," I suggested. "No," she said, "not even that for it in the morning I thought about getting through the day, that would be hard. Just an hour at a time."

Stop Straining Ahead.

Is there a long road before you, almost impossible that you shall live to get through some difficult stretch that lies in front of you? Then strain, strain, strain, very far off? Then strain, strain, strain, stop thinking about those long stretches of road, you can only get there in one way—by putting one foot in front of the other. And if you will make up your mind to that and then forget about it and think of other things, soon you, too, will have reeled out behind you the miles surprised to see how easily the miles have reeled out behind you. In the words of a humble but wise philosopher: "When the road is hard to hoe, think only of the present row."

Household Hints

MEAT HINT

Breakfast: Oatmeal and Dates. Coffee. Rolls. Luncheon: Eggs (boiled medium in the shell). Lettuce Salad. Loganberry Preserves. Cocoa. Dinner: Vegetable Oyster Soup. Spaghetti with Tomatoes and Cheese. Escalloped Potatoes. Spinach. Bread. Graham Fruit Cake. Lemon Jello. Coffee.

TIED RECIPES.

Vegetable Oyster Soup—One pint of sliced vegetable oysters, one pint of water, one pint of milk, butter, flour, salt, pepper. Wash and slice thin enough of the roots to make one pint.

Boil in one pint of water about 20 minutes, or until tender; add one pint of milk, one tablespoon of flour, salt and pepper to taste.

Snow Pudding—One tablespoon of granulated gelatin, one-quarter cup cold water, one cup boiling water, one cup sugar, one-quarter cup lemon juice, whites of three eggs. Soften gelatin in cold water, add boiling water and stir until sugar is dissolved. Set bowl into pan of ice water.

To cool, stirring occasionally. When jelly is quite thick fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs and put into mold. Put on ice to harden. When firm remove from molds and serve with soft custard. The egg yolks are used for this custard.

Macaroni Salad—For each person use a large spoonful of cooked macaroni, three or four small head lettuce, four or five small heads of cauliflower, six or seven small heads of cabbage, one-half cup chopped pimientos. Mix with a good salad dressing which has had an equal quantity of whipped cream added to it. Serve on a lettuce leaf.

Feed Apples—Pare and core a dozen small apples, fill with sugar, butter and a little nutmeg; bake. When done remove to another plate carefully. Ice the top and sides with cake icing and brown slightly. Serve with cream.

Learn Jolly—One envelope gelatin, one cup cold water, two cups boiling water, three quarters cup sugar, one-half cup lemon juice. Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar and stir.

Strain into molds, first dipped in cold water and chill. Berries, fruit or nuts may be added.

DISCOVERIES.

White Spots on Furniture—To remove white spots from furniture, try alcohol. Wet a flannel cloth and rub on the spots. Use this where hot dishes leave places on the table.

To Stretch Curtains Straight—The next time you do up your lace curtains, if you will stretch them from the hem, and let the lace free from the pins, you will find that they will hang perfectly straight. There isn't enough body to any lace to stretch any curtain firm.

Take them off and iron the lace. You will also find that the lace edging will wear much better.

The Draining from a Teapot is very good to water a Boston fern with.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 14 years old and have two older sisters. They are always going somewhere and have their friends over, but mother won't allow me to have my friends over even after school. She never lets me go out and visit anyone. When mother or any one has company they send me up to my room.

We have a wonderful home. It has sixteen rooms, and at Sunday school whenever they want to have a meeting of some kind they ask me if I may have it, but mother always objects.

Mother and my sisters snub me when they have company. We have two maids and mother often leaves me alone with them and they slap and do things like that. I tell mother she always sends me to bed.

My sisters are always getting candy and I never get any unless daddy brings some home and does not let any one know he got me any. I have talked with daddy, but he can do nothing. My older sister has graduated from college and my other one is preparing to go there. I suppose I will go also.

I have plenty to eat, but I can't stand living here since daddy can do nothing with mother. What would you advise me to do?

Apparently you are being "well bred." You do not like it now, but when you are older you will look back upon your days of misery with amusement.

Unfortunately your family cannot get over the idea that you are not a baby. They cannot be deceived much longer, however, because in a year or two you will grow from childhood to girlhood and they will be forced to see the change. Keep a brave heart, a while and be thankful that you have a sympathetic daddy.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going to parties, basketball games and other affairs with a boy for about a year.

At that time he has never gone with any other girl, and I value him as an esteemed friend and am proud of him. He is very polite and considerate whenever with me, and he possesses other good qualities.

To be sure, I believed he liked me quite as well as I liked him. After an entertainment the other night I was bidding goodnight to two girl friends when he and another boy came up and asked to escort my girl friends home. He merely spoke to me and so I walked home by myself.

Won't you please tell me how I can retain his friendship? Do you think he is tiring of me?

LONGINGNESS.

The best way to get the boy back is not to care apparently that he has dropped you. Speak to him when you meet as if you did not notice his neglect. But do not start conversation with him or take any interest in him. Go with other boys if they ask you and probably jealousy will make him return to you.

Youth is so fickle that it is probable he is tiring or has tired of you. In case he does not come back within a week or two give him up and enjoy others.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you kindly inform me where I should apply to obtain work during reviews? I know this is out of your line, but thought perhaps you would be able to give me the desired information.

S. A.

Write to the different publishing houses. You can get a list of them at the library. It is doubtful if you can get much work, however, without applying in person.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

FOCAL INFECTION AND IMMUNITY

In a recent article dealing with the relation of one infection to another in the same individual, such as diseased tonsils and infected teeth, Dr. W. W. Duke, attached to the American Red Cross in France, mentions in three cases of locomotor ataxia, in which unanticipated improvement followed the eradication of some such focus of infection after the customary vigorous specific treatment of the disease had accomplished all that could be expected. There is good reason to believe that the search for and the eradication of chronic foci or points of infection in the body is always worth while even though the focus does not happen to be the actual cause of the disease under treatment.

The evidence seems to show that very frequently the presence of some such septic focus, as for instance, a diseased tonsil which gives comparatively little trouble in itself, or a root canal filled long ago and now neither sore nor painful yet infected as proved by X-ray picture, is the handicap that prevents complete recovery from such conditions as acne (pimples), arthritis (joint inflammation), pleurisy, tuberculosis, syphilis, gonorrhea, (suppurating gonor), chronic appendicitis and chronic cholecystitis (gall-sac inflammation).

We know that there are two types of acquired immunity of which practical advantage is taken in the modern treatment of various diseases due to infection. The first type is specific immunity, which, for example, is brought about by the administration of the bacterial vaccine that has protected our armies against typhoid fever. Injection of measured quantities of the killed typhoid bacilli produces in the body the same reaction as that which must happen naturally when an individual contracts typhoid fever and ultimately recovers.

The second type of immunity is non-specific. English and American investigators have employed certain proteins other than the proteins of germ bodies to arouse in the sufferer from multiple arthritis, asthma, or other disease dependent on infection a similar reaction which sometimes seems to prove a boon to the sufferer.

Not so many years ago we would have scoffed at the idea of immunizing a person against typhoid fever, yet this is now a routine practice. Not so many years ago a recovery from chronic so-called rheumatism was a rare accident which nobody was able to explain, yet today the prevention and cure of disabling joint disease, besides a good many other chronic affections narrow down to a clear diagnostic problem: "Find the septic focus and clean it out before it is too late."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What does the doctor mean when he tells me I have an "irritable spine"? What diet would be beneficial for one with a high blood pressure? Would butter be helpful? (W. L. S.)

ANSWER—It does not know what ignorance is applying an all-around diagnosis, that is, one which will fit any eventuality. 1. A diet of tomatoes, green beans, butter or vegetable oil, margarine, apples, rice, oranges, milk or buttermilk, and oatmeal, would decrease acidity of the urine.

Influenza Pneumonia. What do you consider the most successful remedy for pneumonia that accompanied influenza? (R. N.)

ANSWER—Open air treatment, and transfusion of blood serum from

SIMPLE FROCK FOR YOUNG DEBUTANTE

Never was a canary in all its sunny glory more gay than this maiden in her gown of yellow moon-glo silk trimmed with ostrich feathers. The feathers and draping ripple and fall gracefully about her lithe form and the skirt is caught in tightly about the ankles. A superbly simple dance frock for the young debutante.

For a long time she stood, dazed and unbelieving, in the center of the room, staring at the door. She held her breath, listening for the shout that was so sure to come—and the shot, perhaps! A prayer formed on her lips and went voicelessly up to God.

Suddenly she roused herself from the stupefaction that held her. With feverish haste she snatched up garments from the chair on which she had carefully placed them in anticipation of the emergency that now presented itself. A blouse (which she neglected to button), a short skirt of some dark material, a jacket, and a pair of stout walking shoes (which she failed to lace), completed the swift transformation. As she glided to the window, she jammed the pins into a small black hat of felt. Then she peered over the ledge.

She started back, stifling a cry with her hand. A man's head had almost come in contact with her own as she leaned out. A man's hand reached over and grasped the inner ledge of the casement, and then a man's face was dimly revealed to her startled gaze.

CHAPTER XIV.

A Flight, a Stone-Cutter's Shed, and a Voice Outside.

"Why have you come up here?" She came swiftly to his side.

"Thank the Lord, I made it," he whispered, breathlessly. "I came up because there was nowhere else to go. I thought I heard voices—a man and a woman speaking. They seemed to be quite close to me. Don't be alarmed, Miss Cameron. I am confident that I can—"

"And now that you are here, trapped as I am, what do you purpose to do? You cannot escape. Go back before it is too late."

"He is somewhere in the house. I was to wait until he—Oh, Mr. Barnes, I—I am terrified. You will never know the—"

"Trust him," he said. "He is a marvel. We'll be safely out of here in a little while, and then it will all look simple to you. You are ready to go? Good! Sit down, do! If he doesn't return in a minute or two, I'll take a look about the house myself. I don't intend to desert him. I know this door—"

Everything Soured on Stomach—How Mr. King Found Relief.

"I suffered ten years with stomach trouble and spent lots of money for medicine, but I never found any relief until I commenced using Muterole. I had not enjoyed a meal in two years. Everything soured on my stomach. I have used five bottles of Muterole and I am thoroughly cured."—John W. King, Bensenville, Ill.

The blessed relief from stomach trouble, and the new feeling that Muterole brings are easily felt in the reach of every sufferer. It is so guaranteed that it costs nothing to try. Muterole is a pleasant, attractive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physic. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of blood and strength, Muterole is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. This is the only solid, reliable, safe, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are assured to take Muterole home with you, use it according to directions and be not satisfied with the results, you may return the bottle for a refund of one and a half dollars. The Muterole Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by J. E. Baker.

them to the tavern. "They—" "I am all right now," she said, and they were off again. Barnes now picked his way carefully and with the greatest caution. He could only pray that he was going in the right direction.

An hour—but what seemed three as long—passed and they had not come to the edge of the forest. Her feet were beginning to drag; he could tell that by the effort she made to keep up with him. From time to time he paused to allow her to rest.

"You are plucky," he once said to her.

"I am afraid I could not be so plucky if you were not so strong," she sighed, and he loved the tired, whimsical little twist she put into her reply.

To his dismay they came abruptly upon a region abounding in huge rocks. This was new territory to him. His heart sank.

"By Jove, I believe we are farther away from the road than when we started. We must have been going up the slope instead of down."

"In any case, Mr. Barnes," she murmured, "we have found something to sit down upon."

He chuckled. "If you can be as cheerful as all that, we shan't miss the cushions," he said, and for the first time, risked a flash of the electric torch. The survey was brief. He led her forward a few paces to a flat boulder, and there they seated themselves.

"I wonder where we are," she said. "I am inclined to suspect that we are above Green Fancy, but a long way off to the right of it. Admitting that to be the case, I am afraid to retrace our steps. The Lord only knows what we might blunder into."

"I think the only sensible thing to do, Mr. Barnes, is to make ourselves as snug and comfortable as we can and wait for the first signs of day-break."

He scowled and was glad that it was too dark for her to see his face. He wondered if she fully appreciated what would happen to him if the pursuers came upon him in this forbidding spot. He could almost picture his own body lying there among the rocks and rotting, while she—well, she would merely go back to Green Fancy.

"I fear you do not realize the extreme gravity of the situation. We must get out of these woods if I have to carry you in my arms."

"I shall try to keep going," she said quickly. "Forgive me if I seemed to falter a little. I—I am ready to go on when you say the word."

Dinner Stories

"I lost a dollar at the matinee this afternoon," remarked the fat woman to her husband, "and I never was so angry in my life."

"How'd it happen?" asked the man.

"I dropped it in the aisle," she answered shrilly, "and I looked for it. That's all I could do."

"Did you look good?" persisted the head of the house.

"Did I look good?" shrieked the woman, really angry now. "I looked as good as a fat woman crawling on all fours usually does."

Pat and Mike were working on a new building. Pat was laying bricks and Mike was carrying the load. Mike had just come up to the fourth floor when the dinner whistle blew. His lunch was on the ground.

"I hate to walk down after it," he said.

"Take hold of this rope," said Pat, "and I'll let you down."

Pat let him down half way and then he got out of the rope. Mike landed in the mortar bed not much hurt, but terribly angry.

"And why did you let go of the rope?" he demanded.

"I thought it was going to break," said Pat, "and I had presence of mind enough to let go."

Little Willie Emerson Higginson had just been strapped by his late parent on the father's side. Yet he was not weeping.

His mother said: "I believe that was a mere pretense of a whipping that your father gave you."

"Bearing your father, my dear to make pronouncements like that," that was no consolation.

Mrs. Ward Describes Advance of First Army On Hindenburg Line

BY MRS. HUMPHREY WARD
There has been a memorandum by an officer of the general staff on the Hindenburg line drawn up about a month after the capture of the main section of it, and also a German report made by a German officer in the spring of 1917. The great fortified system, as it subsequently became, was then incomplete. It was begun late in 1916, when the battle of the Marne, the German high command had determined on the retreat which was carried out in February and March of the following year.

It was dug by Russian prisoners, and the forced labor of French and Belgian peasants. The best engineering and tactical brains of the German army went to its planning, and both officers and men believed it to be invulnerable.

The whole vast system was from four miles to seven miles deep, one interlocked and intercommunicating system of trenches, gun emplacements, machine gun positions, fortified villages, and the rest running from east to west across France behind the German lines.

The front of the British forces, writes an officer of the First Army before the capture of the Drocourt-Queant portion of the line, ran like a line upon the line, and the defenses were such as had never before been imagined; system after complicated system of trenches, protected with machine gun positions, with trench mortars, manned by a highly trained infantry and by machine gunners unsurpassed for skill and courage. The whole was supported by artillery of all calibers.

The defenses were the result of long trained thought and of huge work. They had been there for years, and they had been constantly improved and further organized. And the two great canals, the Canal du Nord and the Scheldt canal, and especially the latter, were worked into the system with great skill and strongly fortified.

It is evident indeed, that the mere existence of this fortified system, and the high confidence to the German army and when it was captured that confidence already severely shaken, finally crumbled and broke.

Indeed, by the time the British armies had captured the Caves portion of the line and stood in front of the line itself the morale of the German army as a whole was no longer as taking it, though severe, were less than we had suffered in the battle of the Scarpe; and one detects in some of our reports, when the victory was won, a certain amazement that we won, at least, off comparatively, so lightly.

Nevertheless, many of the German troops fought as well as ever, and there had been any failure in attack on preparation or leadership we should have paid dearly for it. And a rally on the Hindenburg line, had it allowed the enemy any chance of it, might have prolonged the war for months. But there was no failure and there was no rally.

Leaders Make Good
Never had our tired army leaders—Gen. Horn, Gen. Byng and Gen. Rawlinson—carried out more brilliant two supreme achievements of the staff work better; never were the subordinate services more faultlessly efficient. An American officer who had served with distinction in the British army before the entry of his own country into the war spoke to me in Paris with enthusiasm of the British staff work during these three months' advance.

It was simply marvelous! People don't understand. "Everything was done," writes an eyewitness of the First Army. The rapidity of our advance completely surprised the enemy, some of whose batteries were captured as they were coming into action. Penton and battle bridges were laid across the Canal du Nord with lightning speed, the engineers coming close behind the firing line, brought up the railways, light and heavy, as though by magic—built bridges, repaired roads, in the midst of all this rapid information of the enemy's forces in front, his divisions, his reserves, his intentions. Telephone and telegraph were following fast on the advance, connecting every department, whether stationary or still on the move. News was coming in at every moment of advances, captures, possibilities in the new country, casualties, needs. All these were being considered and collated by the staff, decisions taken and orders sent out.

Organization Complete
Meanwhile divisions were being relieved, billets arranged for, transport organized along the few practicable roads. Ambulances were coming and going. Petrol must be accessible everywhere; breakdown gangs and repair parties must be ready always to clear roads and mend bridges. And the men doing these jobs must be landed, fed and directed as well as the fighting line.

Letters came and went. The men were paid. Records of every kind were kept. New maps were made, printed and sent around, and quickly since food and supplies depended on them. "One breakdown on a narrow road, one failure of an important message over a telephone wire, and how much may depend on it!"

Yet, thanks to intelligent and devoted work, to experience and resources, how little in these later stages of the war has gone wrong. The fighting men, the staff work, the auxiliary services of the British army, the long welding of the war had indeed brought them by last autumn to a wonderful efficiency. And that efficiency was never being sharpened by the exchange of a stationary war for a war of movement.

The army swept on "over new but largely destroyed country," into unknown land, where all the problems as compared with the long years of trench war, were new. Yet nothing failed—"except the astounding enemy's power of resistance."

So much from a first-hand record of the First Army's advance.

SENIOR CLASS TEAM BEATS DEVILS, 21 TO 9

The much heralded Red Devil baseball bunch were unmercifully wall-poled by the J. H. S. Senior class team last night at the Court house park diamond. The Senior class, although handicapped by the loss of Sprackling and Metcalf, had no difficulty in hammering out runs and emerged the victor by the overwhelming score of 21 to 9. St. Claire was taken out of the Senior box and Dugan sent in. Twirling faultless ball, Dugan had the Devils completely baffled. Raubacher, pitching for the Devils, was cut out of condition and could not stop the Senior batting, and after three innings slaughter, was taken from the box and replaced by Lohman, who fared little better.

On Thursday the same Red Devil bunch defeated the Seniors 19 to 14, Raubacher and Plerson twirled for the victors.

Sunday afternoon the Red Devils will meet the Court Sluggers at Stafford's diamond. The Sluggers received a sound drubbing one year by the Devils and not being satisfied will try their luck again. Townsend and Tunstead will form the Devils battery.

Who Shall Find the Limit of Hudson Endurance?

We Have Tried By Most Gruelling Tests—60,000 Hudson Owners Continue the Search

There must be some point at which a piece of machinery is taxed beyond its power of endurance.

But that point has not yet been found in the Hudson Super-Six.

Why We Tried the Speedway

It was in search of that point, rather than to demonstrate speed, that the Super-Six has won more records and made faster time under the gruelling strain of long sustained effort than any stock car ever built. Calling for superlative endurance under the stress and pressure of tremendous speed, by their very violence, these contests crowd scores of miles into one. They impose a strain that could be equaled under ordinary conditions only by years of driving.

How Hudson Made Its Records

We decided to test Super-Six endurance on the speedway. We drove at highest possible speed for an hour—and beat the world's best time. We tried 100 miles without even approaching the limit. Then we tried 150 and 200 miles, setting new records. Next the Super-Six made 250 miles at the rate of 101 miles an hour. Such speed even for a single mile would send many stock cars to the junk pile. But at the finish the Super-Six had the same rhythmic, pulsing purr as when it started.

The Final Test—60,000 Owners

Those records of endurance were shown by the same Super-Six motor that is in the cars of more than 60,000 Hudson owners. There is the final test—the test of satisfactory service under all conditions; the test of contented ownership. Each one of those 60,000 knows he has a car that holds more worth-while records than any automobile ever built—and proves its right to them by its everyday service.

Hudson Makes Motor Mode

And in addition to these proofs of endurance Hudson makes a line of body types, the distinction and beauty of which is acknowledged by everyone. What greater evidence can there be of Hudson leadership? And need one ask for more assurance in deciding what car will best meet his requirements?

Hudson production has always been under the demand. This year shows a repetition of the shortage of former years. Even now immediate deliveries for the most part are out of the question. So to get a Hudson at all this year calls for early decision.

BRAVE AMERICANS

Portraits of Medal Winners, Made at the Front by Official Portrait Painter of the A. E. F. JOSEPH CUMMINGS CHASE.

First Lieut. GEORGE W. PURYEAR.

The first American officer who escaped from Germany was the young aviator, Lieut. George W. Puryear. He was captured July 26th, 1918, north of Chateau-Thierry. He had a thrilling duel in the air with a German two-seater, and got the best of the battle. Seeing that the Hun pilot and observer whom he had succeeded in wounding were making a landing, Lieut. Puryear made a landing also, with the intention of making prisoners his two wounded adversaries. He himself was taken prisoner by a detachment of Germans who were hiding nearby. He was confined in four different prison camps in Germany. He escaped the first time from Friedrichsfeld prison camp, Rastatt, August 6th, but was recaptured August 8th before getting out of Germany. On October 6th he escaped again from Villingen and got over the electric barrier and the barbed wire fence. After swimming the Rhine a little below its junction with the Aar and being shot at six times point blank by the guards who missed their aim because Puryear ran at them instead of away from them, finally reached Switzerland, October 11th. See his smile!

THE RED SHAWL

BY JACK LAIT

The Story of A Princess.
An American—and Bolshevism

Starts in Tomorrow's
Chicago Sunday Tribune

She's eighteen—a Princess—a dainty slip of a girl, guarded and protected in an ancestral castle all her life. Suddenly Bolshevism breaks out. The monarchy is upset by a reign of terror. In peasant garb, hidden under a red shawl, the Princess escapes. Aided by an American newspaper correspondent she flees to America. Then comes love—a romance beautiful, inspiring.

In "THE RED SHAWL," Jack Lait, author, paragrapher and playwright, has written a remarkable story of today—a story of bolshevistic uprising, of romance, of adventure. This absorbing narrative reveals the evils of Bolshevism, the plight of a kingdom and the happy medium of the good old U. S. A. form of government.

"THE RED SHAWL" is the story of the hour! It has never before been published in any form. It will be presented for the first time, beginning in the color section of tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune. It is Jack Lait's newest novel—a fascinating story of love and devotion, honor and sacrifice.

If you want to know the results of Bolshevism—if you want to know what has happened to the monarchs of Europe—if you want to know how the little Princess brought peace to her troubled country—read "THE RED SHAWL," starting in tomorrow's Chicago Sunday Tribune. To avoid disappointment order your Chicago Sunday Tribune in advance from your newsdealer.

Hired Man's Life Saved. James was bowlegged and felt it his duty to whip every boy that reminded him of the fact. When he visited in the country the hired man laughed and told him he couldn't stop a pig if he tried. James told his mother what the man had said, then added: "He's pretty big, and I'm mighty glad he didn't say I was bowlegged."

A Glass Horn. An innovation in phonographs is an instrument equipped with a horn of beveled mirror glass. The claim of the makers is that the horn of a talking machine best reproduces the tone when its surface is smooth and rigid, hence one of heavy glass is preferable to one of wood or metal.

JANESVILLE SURE OF BEATING THAT ROCKFORD CREW.

(By K. L. EAGON)

Tomorrow afternoon at the fair grounds there should be one of the fastest little games of baseball ever contested in any part of this great and glorious nation.

It will easily be the best game ever played in this city.

The line-up of the Janes looks unusual. Players of repute to step beatable. And there will be two in the fray in case of an emergency. Telegrams came into the Janes camp today from Chicago and Milwaukee, both of which said they would be on hand when the game started. Little is known of Merdell. He phoned he was an outfielder, but from the looks of things he won't have much chance to work.

Two big leaguers and three crack semi-pro players will be seen in action tomorrow for the Janes.

"Nick" Kearns' last word was that he was working out hard and "never felt better in his life." Kearns will leave Chicago at 8 a. m. Sunday, sailing into Janesville over the Northwestern at 11:10. Kearns is being brought here at a tremendous expense, and will obviously work hard for a victory, as he wants to come back to Janesville.

"Eldred" Eldred will motor over from Albany tonight if weather conditions are favorable. The Rubbs will play second base tomorrow. He knows the game, can hit in the field, and should show well in the batting order.

Tommy Croake, the capable little backstop, will report under the wire tonight, too, coming in from Rockford where he has been working during the last week. Tommy will meet up with the highly respected Mr. Kearns tomorrow morning and give the latter a final workout.

Kearns should prove a capable little battery.

Howard Bond of Lake Forest, Ill., Academy will also arrive in Janesville this evening.

Tickets for tomorrow's game, sold at the grounds, will cost 25 cents for general admission and 35 cents for the grand stand. Those holding the five-game strip tickets will be admitted only to the grounds and must pay an additional 11 cents at the grand stand for a seat.

There will be plenty of deputies on hand to see that none gain access to the playing field as was the case last Sunday. Several foul flies could have been caught if there hadn't been a crowd about the third base line.

Many Bets Placed.

There was considerable betting on the Janesville-Rockford game reported Saturday. The Janes have sure cases, where was reported fans being placed at even money and in some cases, there was reported fans being willing to bet odds against Rockford.

This much can be said, Nick Kearns is a corking good pitcher—and no one doubts that he is. He is a corking good pitcher—and no one doubts that he is.

There will be no excuse for boots or lack of slickwork Sunday.

Les has said today that he was going into tomorrow's game with his best in his eye. Les has not been able to hit anything thus far, and it has been considerably worried. But the last little infielder got plenty of batting practice last week and also feels that all the nukes are out of his system. At least he feels this way to the extent of stating that if he didn't cut loose Sunday, he was through with baseball for the season. And we sure believe he'll do some full cutting.

Calbanks-Morse Coming.

Two weeks from Sunday, the Janes will take on the fast Pairbanks-Morse Apprentices at the fair grounds here. So the game has been secured for out-of-town on May 4, but there are several prospects.

The Janes take the field tomorrow financially looking like a copper. The game will be put out to get a team together that could play ball and win games. If the Janes don't cop tomorrow there will be absolutely no excuse, as the Janes stand now, they are capable of meeting any semi-professional club in the United States.

A meeting of all local members of the Janes will be held at the Gazette editorial room Monday night, at which plans for the future will be discussed. A permanent captain will be elected and regular local players will be assigned. Outside of batteries, there will be no salaries handed to outside players. The Janes will content themselves with playing teams from surrounding cities, unless a real buckler comes to the front.

The writer has done everything in his power to give Janesville a real baseball club, and is nearly exhausted in more ways than one. The team will be kept going until snow flies, but no more teams can be taken on for awhile. Not here, at any rate.

Anderson, who will pitch for the Rockford club, is reported to be quite some considerable of a pitcher.

Altogether, it will probably be the best game Janesville will have the opportunity to see this season.

Lexicographer Wanted.

A new verb has come into existence. It is the verb "to automotive." The meaning is not quite clear, but we take it to mean to improve upon the automobile and its use.—New Haven Journal-Courier.

Wrong Use of Brains.

"All some folks do with their brains," said Uncle Eben, "is to make believe dey's thinkin' when dey's only jes' loafin'."

"THE RUBE" AND "HIS NIBS"

Above—"Rube" Eldred, pitcher and infielder, who will play second base for The Janes tomorrow; below—"His Nibs", J. A. Murphy, the umpire.

NEW BASEBALL NINE PERFORMS TOMORROW

The Badger Tribe, the newest baseball team in the city, will start out on its career with a doubleheader at the Rock Hill diamonds, Sunday afternoon. The Badgers have two batteries, one for each contest. Hughes and the Yanks and Peckem. Gestland and Folk make up the emergency battery.

The badgers will play the Rock Hill nine at 1:30 and the Janes nine at 2:30. The strength of the Janes is unknown, but they appear to be weaker than the Rock Hill bunch.

BLACKHAWKS TO MEET FOOTVILLE TOMORROW

The Blackhawks will invade Footville tomorrow to clash with the stroke village team there in the afternoon at 2:30. Manager Tim McCue has gathered up a bunch of stars to make up a team which looks good on paper and should wallop the village boys without any trouble.

"Pete" McEneaney will be on the mound for the Hawks with McCue on the receiving end. The remainder of the lineup will be Croake, ss. Hill 2b. Dopp on 1b, Flaworthy 2b, Berger lf, W. Fleming, rf, Marshall cf.

Too Much Thought of Self.

"Sometimes," said Uncle Eben, "a man thinks so much about his own comfort dat he makes bissef puffyfied miserable."

St. Paul, Minn., April 24.—Jack Britton, world's welterweight champion, boxed Jack Malone of this city into a howl knot here last night in a ten-round bout. Britton hit Malone with everything but the water bottle. Malone attempted to get in close to his opponent, but Britton's cleverness and ring generalship were too much for him. In the semi-winning Tom Coniskey won from Bud Logan in eight rounds.

Notre Dame Beats Indiana.

Notre Dame, Ind., April 25.—A thrilling rally in the third netted five runs and won an interesting battle for Notre Dame against Indiana, 6 to 5. Connor hit a home run, scoring Babin ahead of him, the hit being the longest on Currier field this season. The cold weather, however, hampered the pitchers considerably.

Indiana rallied in the eighth, scoring four runs, but Wayne failed the side, preventing further damage.

Annapolis, Md., April 25.—A delegation of citizens from Cumberland, headed by Mayor Thomas W. Koon, called upon Gov. Harman today and urged him not to interfere should Cumberland be chosen as the place for the Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship bout. The governor said he would give his decision by next Monday.

McGoorty Wins at Dublin.

Dublin, April 25.—Eddie McGoorty, middleweight of Oakbrook, Wis., knocked out Tom Gummer last night in the second round of a fifteen round contest.

Rivers Better Nelson.

Rock Island, Ill., April 25.—(Special)—Joe Rivers won a decision over Frankie Nelson of Buffalo last night in the seventh of a ten round bout when Nelson, after taking considerable punishment, quit the ring. Nelson apparently was going strong until he received a cut above the eye in a mix-up. He backed away from Rivers, told the referee he was through and stepped outside the ropes.

SPORT SERIAL

(By K. L. EAGON)

It is for the rookies that'll play us. O means only that they're out of luck. K is for the "crowd" we oughta see. P is for the finish of the Illinoisans. O is out, one-two-three, every frame. D is for the derelict for the opposing pitchers.

Put them all together, they spell BASEBALL.

A word that means the world to us.

We've found out why Allan Bick wears that knock-down-drag-out cap at an angle of 341 degrees. It's to scare the batters. That's what you'd call headwork. Hold 'em, you go a step farther, you'll be a stepmother.

From a League of Nations it's turned out to be a League of Nations. Where'd Bryan go?

A GOOSELET

Young Kid Hubbard.

Reveled to the cupboard.

To see if he could rustle some dough. And when he got there, the dish den was bare.

And he couldn't see the Janes big show.

The Janes' fielders look for an easy afternoon. If Nick Kearns is right, the outfield will look like a still picture.

From the telegraph and telephone bills incurred, it is a cinch the outside world knows we're playing baseball in Janesville.

After practice last night, sides were chosen. Pete Fleming, Vines and Rakuske standing fire, Bick, Britt, Dopp and Eagon. The final score ran well into the thousands. Incidentally someone remarked that as a ballplayer, the writer might make a manager.

UNBEATABLE

No wonder the allies won the war. Look at the combination—HAG AND HAYS, and behind Hag was CANADIAN CLUB, and behind Canadian Club, WILSON.

ALL-STARS ARE SET FOR FOX HALL NINE

"Bevo" Bick and his flock of All-Stars are ready to take on the Fox Hall nine at Bailey's diamond tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Graf and Gremelin will both be in the line-up, but Wall is still out with a bum mitt.

The strength of the Fox Hall bunch is unknown but the Stars are ready for anything. In Janesville Art did not say who would start on the mound for the Stars, but it is a safe bet that Bick will start with Hager in relay to relieve him. Hager will probably hold down the initial sack as Marko will be in Milwaukee.

The Stars have two games definitely fixed; May 4, Beloit high school stars, and May 11, Edgerton Outlaws. Both games will be played here.

Other teams which will be brought here during the summer are Milton, Milton Jet, Rockford, Evansville, Edgerton, Beloit, Stoughton, Albany and Argyle.

peddle tickets at the grandstand again. Is it there on the pastboards. Goin' and comin'.

Pair warm'n' folks tomorrow's ball game will be the best band of up—Janesville for years.

Don't miss it. The prices are 25 and 35, but it will pay all to pay 35 and sit in the grand stand, for none will be admitted to the playing field. There will be a city policeman on the job to see to this.

The Schenectady (N. Y.) team of the New York State League has a battery, nicknamed ROCK AND RYE. They oughta be great friends of the bench after July 1.

The WOMEN have Always Helped— God Bless Them!

WE reverence the spirit of America's womanhood. The Bonds they bought were precious; sacred things to them. They felt that every Bond was silent, material proof that they could fight too.

And how they have kept the faith! How they have given their boys, their husbands, their brothers! How they have sold Bonds and how they have bought them!

And now that the Victory Liberty Loan has come, they will work and save once more. And let every last man stand shoulder to shoulder with these women and see that the Victory debt is paid.
